MISSIONS

Mission 3029-06b: Get to the Boat!
West of Moncona, Sarna
December 17, 3029
Pilot Skill: 2-4

Okay boys, listen up!

You know, whoever said we shouldn't get into bed with the Capellans was probably on to something. Things went from "Pretty damn good" to "Really, really bad" in an eyeblink. We were just about to crack the Fed mercenaries' holdout in Graves Hollow when we got word that both the Davion Heavy and Light Guards were about to drop right on top of us. Rather than get sandwiched between the mercs and the fresh Davion troops, the Big Mac decided to cut bait and run. And it looks like that's the only reason we're still alive.

So now our only goal is to get to our dropship and get off this rock. The Feds have been chasing us across Sarna for weeks now. The Big Mac has a plan to launch all of their dropships at zero-dark-thirty tomorrow, and we plan to launch with them. We just gotta get there. The Grover's Folly is parked just on the west shore of Lake Ozero. Problem is - we're on the east shore, and there's Feds on our tails. The good news is that the Big Mac has secured for us a surface ship that should be big enough to carry the rest of you. It's less than a minute out, all ya gotta do is hang on and board it when it gets there.

The Feds aren't known for being nasty to mercs they capture, but just in case they're feeling a little salty about the whole "changing sides" thing we did at the beginning of all of this, it's probably best if you don't test that theory. Good luck!

Map: Use the Lake Losiige Map from the Tukayyid map pack (if available). Otherwise, any heavily forested map with a coast will do.

Recommended Maps:

1: lake_losiige

Setup: The Enemy OPFOR can set up anywhere on any terrain level 3 higher. The Players can set up anywhere on any terrain level 0 or in the water.

Special Rules

Is that a plane?: The Fed Suns forces have aerospace support during this mission. Each OPFOR band will list a number of Battlefield Support Points to spend during the mission on Offensive Aerospace missions. Also listed are the maximum number of Aerospace missions that can be used in any turn. (BMM pps 76-78). Any Aerospace mission must be declared by the GM

(or whoever is running the OPFOR) first in their firing phase, before any other attacks are resolved for the OPFOR.

No, Water is not suicide: If an Aerospace mission damages a 'mech in Depth 1 water, roll on the full body chart and halve (round up) all damage to the legs.

Stand Still, will you?: Aerospace strikes have a -1 to hit bonus, but are affected by terrain and target movement modifiers.

Get to the Boat!!!: That boat will be arriving on the end of turn 4. Players can board the the boat starting turn 5 by moving off the board at tiles 0113, 0114 and 0115.

Secret reward: If a player completed the secret objective in mission 3029-05 they may cancel one aerospace attack when it is declared (No roll is required).

DON'T TELL THE PLAYERS: The escape boat will be destroyed at the end of turn 3. The players will need to escape off of the top edge of the board, leaving through any hex to the right of 1601. Read them the following, then explain the rewards structure.

Okay boys, listen up! That horrible explosion and Glub-Glub sound you just heard was the Fed's cottoning on to our escape plan and, well, sinking it. Time to go with plan B. Henrik has found a narrow path north of your location that looks like it should provide sufficient cover for your escape. I've marked it on your maps. Get Moving! It looks like a fresh wave of Davion troops will be there in under two minutes, so you have no time to dawdle.

OPFOR Limitations (Don't tell the players): The Fed Suns troops that are attacking our heroes are looking for salvage, not blood. They are under Forced Withdrawl rules, and will not attack any 'mech that is down. They are also not aware of the Heroes' escape route and will not act to block it until at least one PC unit has escaped that way.

Mission Objectives: Escape the FedSuns' Noose.

Mechs still on the board at the end of turn 12 are considered to be trapped by Fed Suns troops. If time is called before turn 12, 'mechs can still escape if, in the remaining turns, they have enough movement to get off the map assuming that nobody is shooting at them. Any hex currently occupied by an enemy unit will be considered impassible terrain, but enemy units will not otherwise move to block the PC. Special abilities can be used, and even certificates (but the player must cross them off). If abilities require a roll (e.g. MASC) then the player must roll for them.

Award (C-Bills)	Mech Survived	Mech Severely Damaged	Mech Destroyed
Get your personal 'mech off of the map	350,000	250,000	N/A
Each teammate's 'mech that escapes (each)	+20,000	+20,000	+20,000
Your 'mech is unable to escape.	150,000	100,000	50,000

Award (XP)	Pilot Survived	Pilot Killed
Get your personal 'mech off of the map	15	N/A
Each teammate's 'mech that escapes (each)	+1	+1
Your 'mech is unable to escape.	8	3
Opposing 'Mech/Combat Vehicle destroyed by party (each)	+1	+1

Additional Rewards

Friends in high places

You may cross off one use of this Cert to get one Heavy Air Cover mission in response to the OPFOR declaring an Aerospace attack (Strike, Bombing or Strafe). You must roll as normal in the Battlefield Support table (BMM, pg 78)

MISSIONS

Mission: 3029-06b Debrief
Get to the Boat!
West of Moncona, Sarna
December 17, 3029

The ride out of Sarna was a little more exciting than you'd like. The few of you that escaped the Fed's noose were battered and lucky to be alive. Definitely a lot luckier than the ones that didn't make it. Still, you've lived to fight another day. Having said that, you weren't all sure you were going to make it out of the Sarna system alive. The Feds hounded the assembled dropships with aerospace and the folly took some serious hits. Still, once you'd managed to link up with the rest of the Big Mac's dropships, plus their remaining aerospace cover, the collection of you presented a prickly enough target that the Feds, content with their capture of the regional capital. There's little doubt that the rest of the Sarna Commonality will fall soon, despite Comstar's lockout of the Federated Suns.

For the Lancers', things are a little less certain. The Capellans may want to rehire you, or you may be able to subcontract with the Big Mac for a while. Or, it might just make more sense to make your way to the Free World's League to lay low for a while and let the Feds forget about this little incident while basking in the glory of their newfound real estate. Only time will tell.

Still, once you'd managed to link up with the rest of the Big Mac's dropships, plus their remaining aerospace cover, the collection of you presented a prickly enough target that the Feds, content with their capture of the regional capital. There's little doubt that the rest of the Sarna Commonality will fall soon, despite Comstar's lockout of the Federated Suns.

For the Lancers', things are a little less certain. The Capellans may want to rehire you, or you may be able to subcontract with the Big Mac for a while. Or, it might just make more sense to make your way to the Free World's League to lay low for a while and let the Feds forget about this little incident while basking in the glory of their newfound real estate. Only time will tell.

Mission: 3029-06b Debrief
Get to the Boat!
West of Moncona, Sarna
December 17, 3029

The ride out of Sarna was a little more exciting than you'd like. The few of you that escaped the Fed's noose were battered and lucky to be alive. Definitely a lot luckier than the ones that didn't make it. Still, you've lived to fight another day. Having said that, you weren't all sure you were going to make it out of the Sarna system alive. The Feds hounded the assembled dropships with aerospace and the folly took some serious hits. Still, once you'd managed to link up with the rest of the Big Mac's dropships, plus their remaining aerospace cover, the collection of you presented a prickly enough target that the Feds, content with their capture of the regional capital.
